

Product Condition Alert

September 29th, 2017

Prolonged heat in central California, devastating hurricanes and growers transition to the desert, have strongly impacted the following commodities: Leaf Lettuce, Romaine, Iceberg, Spinach, Broccoli, Cauliflower, Asparagus, Oranges and Tomatoes.

We foresee challenges in quality, size/weight, appearance and most of all – availability. The past weather patterns have taken its toll on the industry as a whole and supplies are steadily decreasing.

We expect these issues to continue well into Autumn and hope Mother Nature has thrown her last curveball. In an effort to provide you with quality produce, we may have no choice but to substitute the item requested. You may want to consider alternative options when creating your menu.

We hold ourselves to a high standard and recognize the importance of communicating the upcoming journey, which we will experience together. With the struggle being industry wide, we must have patience with our suppliers, while being empathetic to our customers.

We will continue to update you as we see progress and approach relief. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to call (800) 289-8344.
